When in SICILIA

$129.90

A dazzling blend of rolling hills, volcanic mountains, and coastal beaches, the island of Sicilia is Italy's southernmost region. The island has been inhabited since at least 8000 B.C., yielding a cultural legacy that is rich with ancient ruins, a unique dialect, and a distinctive cuisine that gave it the nickname "God's kitchen." Overflowing with typical local products, this gift basket will transport you to Sicilia, from flavorful sauces to pistachio-filled treats.

The Secrets of PANETTONE & PANDORO

Hailing from northern Italy, panettoni and pandori are rich, fluffy cakes traditionally served around the holidays. Native to Milano, panettone is typically studded with candied fruit and raisins and made with natural yeast that takes three days to rise. Its Veronese cousin, the pandoro, is traditionally dusted in powdered sugar and made using three doughs folded together.
